Units 3 and 4

School-assessed Task

The School-assessed Task (SAT) contributes 40 per cent to the study score and is commenced in Unit 3 and completed in Unit 4.

Teachers will provide to the Victorian Curriculum and Assessment Authority (VCAA) a score against each criterion that represents an assessment of the student's level of performance in achieving Unit 3 Outcomes 2 and 3, and Unit 4 Outcome 1. The recorded scores must be based on the teacher's assessment of the student's performance according to the criteria on pages 7–16. This assessment is subject to the VCAA statistical moderation process.

The 2021 Media assessment sheet on page 25 is to be used by teachers to record scores. The completed assessment sheet must be made available on request by the VCAA.

The mandated assessment criteria are published annually on the Media study page of the VCAA website and notification of their publication is given in the February VCAA Bulletin.

Details of authentication requirements and administrative arrangements for School-assessed Tasks are published annually in the VCE and VCAL Administrative Handbook 2021.

The Authentication record form on pages 19–23 is to be used to record information for each student and must be made available on request by the VCAA.

The SAT has three components. They relate to:

- Unit 3 Outcomes 2 and 3
- Unit 4 Outcome 1.

Teachers should be aware of the dates for submission of scores into VASS in June and November. These dates are published in the 2021 Important Administrative Dates and Assessment Schedule published annually on the VCAA website: vcaa.vic.edu.au/pages/schooladmin/admindates/index.aspx

School-assessed Task Outcomes

Unit 3 Outcome 2

On completion of this unit the student should be able to research aspects of a media form and experiment with media technologies and media production processes to inform and document the design of a media production.

Unit 3 Outcome 3

On completion of this unit the student should be able to develop and document a media production design in a selected media form for a specified audience.

Unit 4 Outcome 1

On completion of this unit the student should be able to produce, refine and resolve a media product designed in Unit 3.

Unit 3 and 4 School Assessed Task

The School assessed task contributes 40 percent to the study score and is commenced in Unit 3 and completed in Unit 4.

The SAT has three components

- Unit 3 Outcome 2 (Criteria 1 and 2)
- Unit 3 Outcome 3 (Criteria 3 and 4)
- Unit 4 Outcome 1 (Criteria 5 – 10)

Unit 4: Outcome 1- Nature of task

Media Production

On completion of this unit the student should be able to produce, refine and resolve a media product designed in Unit 3.

Nature of task

- A media product developed from the media production design produced in Unit 3.

Unit 4: Outcome 1- Scope of Task

Media Production

- The production is to be undertaken individually and communicate the student's ideas and concepts from Unit 3. Any collaboration must be documented in the media production design.
- Production notes should be taken to support effective completion of the product, record changes made during the process and assist in authentication.
- Feedback and reflection is required for students to gain insight whether the media product communicates the planned intent of production design. Students will undertake reflection to assist in the refining of their work.

Unit 4: Outcome 1- Scope of Task

Media Production

- Changes are made in the original Media Production Design by documenting annotations and brief notes on changes to the original plans.
- The realisation of the production design should be evident in the annotations. Variations should be clearly differentiated from the original production design.

Although the scene is uneventful, is the eerie mood maintained?

My first round of feedback occurred on 25/7/18, during a class feedback session. This consisted of plugging my laptop into the classroom projector and playing the first two scenes of my film. I chose these two scenes to introduce my film to the class because they quickly and suddenly set the tone of my film, but slowly get the plot going; slow enough to hopefully leave the viewer asking for more. I wanted feedback on these first two minutes of my film because I wasn't sure if certain shots lingered for too long, if the music was distracting, and whether it was actually an enjoyable, captivating opening to my narrative. After showing the preview to the class, I got them to fill out a Google Forms Survey I prepared a few days earlier. Below I will discuss the primary pieces of information and feedback obtained from this audience.

As the class is comprised of males within the age range I am targeting, I was pleased to see that everyone found the preview engaging; most rating their engagement 8/10. Another positive is that 13/14 found the quality of editing very good; which was something I was complimented on by a few after class. These two pieces of information signify to me that, early on in the movie at least, my editing is coming across as clean, appropriate and pleasant to watch, whilst my film is managing to entice an audience long enough and keep them entertained. The music was met with a predominantly positive reaction, and seemed to match "perfectly" in the scene I attempted to set up in the short screen time, and fortunately "worked really well".

However, the main criticism I came across by a few people, and my teacher, was that a few shots lasted for too long. Notably, the shot of the younger brother reaction to the impending accident lasted too long, and presumably lessened the impact of the surprising moment, and one person felt as though "the montage was a little too long", and recommended shortening some of the shots as they felt it would still provide the same impact.

Following this helpful class session, I screened the same two scenes to six different family members, 5 of which were outside of my target audience. Fortunately I got very positive results from this group despite being very different to who the film is aimed at, something I was hoping would happen. All six said they were interested to see what happens next in the narrative, and each found the characters likable and easy to sympathize for. And the biggest contrast between this group and the classroom

How engaging did you find this preview in regards to the story? 1 to 10.

Did the music work well in the scene, or was it distracting?

Any other comments you'd like to make? I'd appreciate any other thoughts you have that I didn't think of...

When the car was about to crash I found that the close up was bit too long, maybe try and cut it a little shorter. (Other than my friend)

Perhaps the montage was a little long; the shots could be shorter and still give the same effect. Before the car accident shot could maybe be cut short? Also the shot of the brother that they were about to have an accident could be cut too. Just the end of that shot with the bright light would be enough and maybe more of a shot to the audience!

FEEDBACK:

For my second poll, I had 58% of users vote for edit one and 42% of users vote for edit two. For some reason I could tell why edit one received more votes, as it appears more heavily edited and adopts a moody kind of vibe when comparing it to the second edit. The second edit doesn't even look like its edited, but it has been, just in a way that makes it look natural and brighter. Who knows... Maybe its edited, but it has been, just in a way that makes it look natural and brighter. I did however find this my Instagram audience are more engaged in mystery rather than portraiture, I did however find this intriguing. For this poll I had 92 users vote for edit one and 66 users vote for edit two, showing that edit one had won the poll by a 16% difference, with 26 more users voting for edit one in contrast to edit the second edit. If I were ever to re-create a feedback process for my images, I would make it more clear to my audience what the theme of the image is supposed to express and so on; rather than just asking which image is better. I didn't want to bore my followers by babbling on before getting into the poll, I just wanted a quick statistical outlook on what people preferred.
